

Beetle Boy Book Review.

I loved Beetle Boy because it had lots of suspense. It made me want to read on and on until I finished.

I would rate it:

I would put the story into a suspense and mystery theme because the characters had to work things out and had to find different clues. The main character (Darkus) was very daring and nosy.

I would recommend this book to all my friends and I'm sure that they'd love it as much as I did.

I think that the book was very unique because it didn't remind me of any other book I've read. It was also unique because you never really see a book about beetles because most people think that they are disgusting. But this book changed my opinion on beetles.

Beetle Boy was written by M.G. Leonard and it was published by Chicken House
